Join us!

Breaking Barriers with guest speaker, Shannon Galpin, Executive Director of Mountain to Mountain

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 2010, 7:00 PM – 9:00 PM

Photography by Tony DiZirno
Inspired by the work of author and social activist Greg Mortenson, Shannon Galpin founded Mountain to Mountain (M2M) in 2007. Her non-profit organization focuses on women and children’s education and empowerment in Afghanistan and other mountain communities. Built upon the vision of uniting like-minded mountain communities with a single cause, M2M creates global connections between cultures and communities in order to further the understanding of those they empower through education. With Galpin’s passion for educating women and children, M2M has established five areas of focus which include; schools for the deaf, literacy programs, computer/science labs, school building and teacher training. Galpin and her organization’s efforts to raise awareness and empower women and children in Afghanistan have been featured on Dateline NBC and The Today Show. You can learn more at www.mountain2mountain.org.

Thursday, March 18, 2010, 7-9 PM, DESSERTS AND COFFEE
Executive Caterers at Landerhaven, 6111 Landerhaven Dr., Cleveland, OH 44124
An American Sign Language interpreter will sign Galpin’s lecture.
$30/person with $5 of every ticket sold going directly to M2M

For reservations, contact the Ursuline College Alumnae Office at 440.646.8375 or kmayle@ursuline.edu by March 8th or visit www.ursuline.edu.