Diane Meros

Who can relate better to a student of Ursuline than a former student? That is exactly why Diane Meros is such a great addition to the Ursuline staff. Diane graduated from Ursuline College and acknowledges Sister Kathleen, and her undergraduate advisor Dr. Jean Seaton, as the two biggest influences in her educational career. After finishing school, she gained advanced training at the Gestalt Institute of Cleveland and worked for many years with people with developmental disabilities. Diane chose to teach at Ursuline because she felt at home here and wanted to bring her experiences back to the students.

A love for art and psychology drove Diane to become an educator of these subjects. She encourages students to attend Ursuline for the positive learning environment and appreciates the fact that faculty take a personal interest in the development of each student as an individual. In the classroom, Diane takes a holistic approach to teaching. She considers the mind, body and spiritual development of each student during his or her learning trajectory.

Outside of teaching, Diane enjoys art-related activities. Her office is decorated beautifully with silk paintings and media mixed collages that she created. She also enjoys spending time with her grandchildren and visiting her son’s farm.
