Jim Connell
After being a high school English teacher and serving as a school administrator for 35 years, Jim Connell was well qualified when he accepted his position at Ursuline three years ago. Jim encourages new students to attend Ursuline for the relationships and quality of education they will receive at the school. He strives to provide the highest quality of learning to each student, so you will often find him planning and reflecting on the material he teaches.

Jim received his degrees from John Carroll and Kent State universities. He claims he was a pretty good student and enjoyed going to school. Outside of education, Jim works with many nonprofit organizations helping to evaluate programming and with strategic planning efforts.

As for the person who has influenced Jim the most, he smiles and says, “My wife. You can’t be married 35 happy years without that someone having an influence on you.”

FAVORITES:
Color: Yellow
Vacation spot: Cape May, NJ
Holiday: Thanksgiving
Food: Pizza
Season: Fall
Author: William Faulkner
Historical Figure: Gandhi
Quote: ‘Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm’- Ralph Waldo Emersion