Ursuline College recently honored four faculty members at its annual Founder's Day brunch for their ongoing accomplishments in the classroom on behalf of student learning and in support of the educational mission of the college. Cynthia Glavac of the English Department; Elisha Dumser, assistant professor for art history and Ursuline Studies; and Alana Andrews, Ursuline Studies Adjunct Faculty, all received the Teaching Excellence Award. The Marie LoPresti Faculty Award for Community Service was presented to Conrad Gromada, professor of religious studies, for performing distinguished volunteer service.