Ursuline College’s Breen School of Nursing graduates are prepared to practice in a manner that is competent, caring and reflective of high standards. While clinical knowledge and skills are mastered by nursing students, at Ursuline the human spiritual element is also emphasized directly through connections with patients and their families. As health care professionals, nurses work in such areas as pediatrics, geriatrics, intensive care, labor and delivery, psych-mental health, school nursing and many others. This day is your opportunity to learn about these careers from nurses in the field.
